1. How do I access the new product?

Publications can be accessed at generics.pharmaintelligence.informa.com. Links to the former Generics Bulletin site will continue to work and will redirect to the new site.

2. What are the network and browser requirements?

Internet Explorer 11+, Safari, Chrome, Firefox on Windows, Mac, and mobile devices and tablets are supported.

3. If I am already accessing online, do I need to change anything?

No, although you may want to sign up for new features, such as My View, daily and weekly email alerts, and custom alerts. You will also need to change your password when you log in for the first time.

4. I don't know my log in details. How do I get them?

Your username is your corporate email address. Click on "Forgot password" and you will receive an email message enabling you to reset your password. If this doesn't work, contact Client Services.

5. Will I still receive a print copy and Where do I send address changes/updates?

All products have print editions. Please contact Client Services for address updates.

6. I don't receive a print copy and would like to start receiving one. Is that possible?

Yes, please contact Client Services.

7. How will archives be accessed after the products are merged?

Via the new product site. All archive content will be included in the new publications sites and will be available via site search or links to old articles.

8. Why are these products being integrated?

We are integrating these products to provide enhanced value to our clients with access to deeper and customizable content. By the integrating products, we are able to bring the full expertise of our global content team to greatly enhancing the geographic reach and expertise. At the same time, we have focused each product to answer the key challenges of specific audiences increasing the value of each title.

9. Will PDF issues be available after this launch?

All publications are completely digital and available online. We do create weekly highlights PDFs that you can access by expanding the Menu bar and clicking on the "PDF Library". You must have a paid and active subscription to gain access to the PDF Library.

10. Does the online service contain anything that is not in the monthly print issue?

Yes, it has the added functionality to tailor content to suit your needs via My View and custom alerts. In terms of content, key pieces will be published in Generics Bulletin print copies, but there will be an enhanced offering online, since journalists will no longer be restricted to space and word count. Please watch this video for further information.
